

Dr. Betty Siegel

January 24, 1931 - February 11, 2020

Asked what she wanted as her epitaph, Dr. Siegel replied: "I would like to be known as 'A minister for education.' "

A full obituary will be posted at a later date.

Comments

---

“ Dr.Betty Siegel my dear friend, mentor from the time we met in '97 when I was with WSB-TV until present.

Dinners with Joel and Jim for years.

We will miss her so very much

deborah schwartz griffin - Yesterday at 10:43 AM

---

“ Dr Siegel was the most loving and warm person I met when I joined Kennesaw State College in 1987. Her dynamic personality always impressed me. Her desire for college to grow with diverse student body gave opportunity to many international students. With her support and encouragement we hosted First International Festival on Campus which made her very proud of her College. Her comments made to me were that she has never seen any such thing on Campus before and wanted this to be an annual affair which we continued till I was at there. She was also very gracious to attend out wedding with her husband. We even visited her later with our children and she welcomed us with a bright eyes and big smile. She was never too busy for her students.

It is a very sad day to loose a very special person whose leadership and personality impacted many. she will be remembered with fond memories. May her soul Rest In Peace.

Dr Siegel thank you for all you did for me and the community.

With much Love and respect.

Flavia and Kiranjiv Bharadwaj .

Flavia Bharadwaj - February 14 at 04:42 PM

---

“ Betty Siegel was warm and welcoming when I became president of Southern Polytechnic State University. She opened her heart and home to my husband and me and invited us to holiday meals (where we always met an array of interesting people). She was a mentor for many people -- especially women in higher education -- and I never tired of listening to her wisdom and experience. Dallas and I send our deepest sympathy to her family. We are grateful for the opportunity to have known and worked with Betty.

Lisa Rossbacher, President Emerita, Southern Polytechnic State University and Humboldt State University

Lisa Rossbacher - February 13 at 05:42 PM