“ Condolences from all of the Israel family. Tim, like his father, had such an engaging personality and he will be missed. May he rest in peace.

“ I shared many laughs with Tim during high school and beyond. He rarely came back to St. Louis without calling and asking me to round up the JFK gang and plan a night out. That's what I loved most about Tim. He didn't let miles or time separate our friendship - and though he made new friends in a new city, he always had time for old friends. One memorable night a few years ago, we met at an establishment with live music and Tim, as always, was accompanied by his sidekick Donny. As soon as the opportunity presented itself, Donny got up on stage and belted out a familiar rock tune and we all sang along like we were back in high school. Tim loved to brag about his wife and children. He was so proud of each of them and would update us during his visits. I loved Tim's sarcasm and silly sense of humor. His laugh was infectious and his smile truly lit up a room. Tim always brought the energy and the fun (and the clown noses and "Cindy holds.") The thought of not being able to call him during our upcoming annual girls weekend at the Lake is heartbreaking, but I know he will be singing loudly along with us from Paradise. My thoughts and prayers are with Tim's family at this sad time. May you find peace and comfort in the beautiful memories of a wonderful man I was honored to call my friend.

“ My condolences go out to all of Tim's family for this tragic news of his passing. Tim was loved by so many of us. I was privileged to get to know him through High School and we stayed in touch throughout college and afterward. His laugh and smile was contagious and where Tim was, there was always fun to follow. He will be greatly missed by so many. He loved to dance especially to Paradise by the Dashboard Lights by Meatloaf. We played volleyball together and I always made fun of his one inch vertical jump. He was not afraid to try anything and usually did. That and so many other things made him so special to us all. Rest in Peace Tim!

“ Tim was always a very happy person. However I never really saw him after high school but he was basically my first date! Went to freshman home coming with him! This is very sad news to me and my thoughts and prayers go out to his family.
